

A vertical strip of five panels from a comic book. The panels show a cityscape at night, with a large, dark, shadowy figure in the foreground. The figure appears to be a giant, with a large head and a long, dark body. The city is illuminated by streetlights, and the sky is dark. The figure is looking down at the city, and its shadow is cast on the ground. The panels are arranged vertically, with the top panel showing the figure's head and the bottom panel showing its feet. The style is a classic comic book illustration, with bold lines and a limited color palette.
